Inside Capitol City

Hollywood's New Ultra Sports Bar

Capitol City opens

Tuesday, September 8, 2009

A new season calls for new nightlife options.

And it doesn't get any newer than the space formerly known as Goa.

Yes, it's time to meet the much anticipated Capitol City, opening next week in Hollywood.

Think of Cap City as your new Monday Night Football/College Football/NFL go-to option. In addition to giving you lots of space to roam (over 7,000 square feet), separate dining and sports viewing areas (six of them, actually), a very long bar (30 feet), lots of beer (60+), lots of beer on tap (30), and lots of hi-def TVs (45 and counting), Cahuenga Boulevard's newest bar also doubles as a gastropub.

Thanks to award-winning Chef Shad Davis (formerly of Belmont, Stone Fire Pizza, and The Corner), you'll be treated to a classic gastro-pub menu (savory ribs, gourmet burgers) and seasonally-driven dishes.

Of course, you can also count on full table service with solid cocktail/wine lists to keep you entertained in the bar/restaurant's VIP area on the mezzanine level (complete with a secret entrance).

We know how you roll...

Capitol City opens to the public next week.
